Delphi Product & Service Solutions (DPSS) announces the launch of its eLearning training program, a new online training series designed to support counterpeople, technicians and DIYers. This free three-course training program provides expert advice and techniques on how to successfully sell, diagnose and install Delphi aftermarket parts.

Within each training course are five 5-7 minute classes with informative videos, infographics and interactive quizzes designed to engage the viewer and reinforce the lessons learned.

Training highlights:

- Learn industry trends and product information from one of the top OE suppliers
- Targeted classes allow users to choose based on their interests; different classes for counterpeople, technicians and DIYers
- Learn new sales techniques, coverage information and features and benefits

The first course, focused on fuel, is available now on the Delphi Dream Shop website (<http://www.delphidreamshop.com/e-learning.php>). While on the site, customers can also enter for a chance to win Delphi prizes. The following two courses on MAF sensors and ignition coils will launch later this year.
